

Located off the northwest tip of Bird's Head Peninsula on the island of New Guinea, in Indonesia's West Papua province, Raja Ampat or 'Four Kings', is the name given to these islands and comes from a local myth. Located in the heart of The Coral Triangle, Raja Ampat is known to have the richest coral reef ecosystem in the world. The main areas offering itineraries for liveaboard scuba diving are: Raja Ampat, Banda Sea and Triton Bay.

Raja Ampat is considered a major epicenter of marine biodiversity, with over 537 corals (three fourths of all known), more than 700 kinds of mollusks and well over 1,000 species of fish inhabiting these waters. In fact, one famed ichthyologist, Dr. Gerald Allen, counted over 280 fish species on a single dive! It's no wonder this region is reputed to have the greatest diversity of marine life on earth and the abundance of underwater animals is truly staggering.

Just a taste of what you'll see underwater: wobbegong & epaulette shark, nudibranchs, pygmy seahorses, bumphead parrotfish, frogfish, sweetlips, cuttlefish, batfish, angelfish, butterflyfish, barramundi cod, shrimps, eels, squid, jawfish, and so so much more!

October to April is considered the best diving season - where you'll find less rain and better visibility. Water temperatures are a consistent 80F~86F degrees year round and visibility generally ranges between 30 to well over 70 feet.

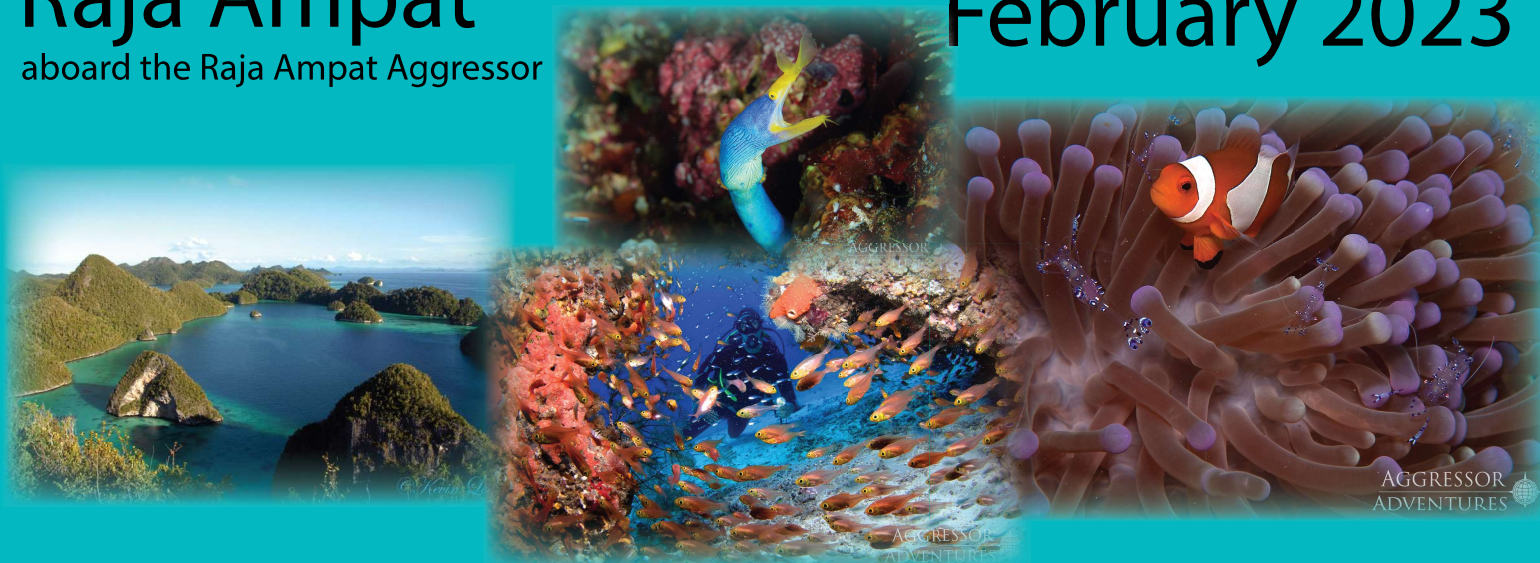

Depending on tide movements, a few dives can involve strong currents, where reef hooks may be needed to tether in place. Otherwise, an open water ascent may be required. A SMB is highly recommended, so surface staff can easily identify distant, drifting divers. Most dive site conditions are generally calm.

Diving

The water temperature varies from 28-30C (82-86F) and air temperatures range from 25-27C (78-79F). A 3mm wetsuit is recommended. The yacht offers up to 4 dives per day (including night dives).

You may pick the buddy of your choice, or dive with one of the staff. While you are in the water, you and your buddy are in charge. Every dive starts with a dive briefing from the staff. However, as a certified diver, you and your buddy are responsible for planning and conducting your own dives within the limitations set forth by the briefing. The staff will be on the dive deck providing surface support for divers. There will be staff in the water also offering support, u/w photography or videography, and critter spotting services.
